How We Work

We work from farm to table to help restaurants, retailers, processors, input suppliers, and growers integrate corporate responsibility into core business strategies.

BSR's projects in this sector range from helping growers with sustainable farming and capacity-building to helping global companies shape their strategies. For example, we worked with Walmart to conduct trainings in 22 Chinese provinces on sustainable farming methods, helping nearly 5,000 farmers improve their livelihoods by implementing healthier and more environmentally friendly farming techniques.

Our Focus

- Climate risk and resilience, including water and biodiversity impacts
- Consumer engagement and sustainable lifestyles
- Human rights and labor conditions
- Stakeholder engagement
- Strategy development and integration, including materiality analysis
- Supply chain, including sustainable farming capacity-building
