

Transport and Logistics

Our globalized economy relies on the competitive transport and logistics solutions, which are vital for world trade. With increasing societal and regulatory expectations for the sectors' positive contribution to a low-carbon economy, collaboration and innovation are required to ensure sustainability.

How We Work

Over the past decade, BSR-led collaborative initiatives have helped dozens of transport and logistics companies engage with business partners and peers to improve environmental and social performance. Our Clean Cargo Working Group includes 23 ocean carriers that represent more than 85 percent of global ocean container capacity. Since 2009, the group's carriers have offset 50 million tons of emissions for an average reduction of 16 percent.

Our Focus

- Anticorruption
- Environmental performance measurement and evaluation
- Human rights and labor issues
- Reporting and communications
- Supply chain collaboration
- Sustainability strategy and integration
